WESTON: BEHIND THE SCENES

As one of Massachusetts 'wealthiest' towns, having the 'best' public high school, Weston has always maintained high standards. The pupils are praised as 'overachievers', the curriculum as 'outstanding', and the teachers as being highly talented. "Weston", says one faculty member, "is a teacher's paradise." The problems (like drugs and drinking) are almost nonexistent here compared to other schools." Unfortunately, as a result of all this publicity, Weston students are too often stereotyped as diligent, conservative types who rarely 'cut loose' or 'deviate from the norm' at all. The four years spent at the high school is a changing and learning time. So many of us enter the high school as wide-eyed gullible groupies and emerge as individuals with a personal style and attitude toward life. So what happens to these kids during the 5040 hours spent here? Who knows what lies behind the mask or under the coat? What lurks behind that veneer of Weston Charm?

ACT I Freshman Year

In the High School's foreign language wing, we see BEAU ZOE, a freshman.

BEAU, THE FRESHMAN: (to himself) What a morning. I actually missed my bus! I hope I don't get a tardy note from Mrs. Benotti! Oh no — I'm late for study hall! Checks calculator watch) I'd better hurry! (As he hurried down the hall, his overstuffed knapsack hits two upperclassmen in the side. BEAU apologizes, in vain, and then scrambles to pick up their books.

Scene 2: Study Hall with Mr. Cronin.

BEAU: I'm glad Mr. Cronin didn't notice I was late!

NANCY: He never does. Say, do you have a pencil? I want to do an extra credit project for Mrs. Majors.

BEAU: takes out five neatly sharpened No. 2 pencils and a Bic Pen) Sure, take one. Listen, this Friday's the Homecoming Dance — my Mom's driving me and since you live only three miles away, I can probably give you a r--

MR. CRONIN: Hey, what's your name?

BEAU: (nervously) It's Beau, sir, Beau Zoe.

MR. CRONIN: Study Halls are for keeping up, young man, not catching up!

(Silence falls, interrupted only by a rustling of papers. Nancy steals a glance at Beau Zoe, and giggles . . .)

ACT II Sophomore Year

Through the side door of the cafeteria, Lucy, Martha and Joanne merge. All are chattering away at the same time, and sit down at the nearest table.

LUCY: (pulls out a purple felt tip pen and doodles on a cafeteria table as she talks to her chums) Guys, I can't believe that Jack Miof actually likes Barbara! I mean, she's nice and all, but she's sooo gross! And she needs to lose at least 15 pounds! (All murmur simultaneously in agreement. They are all wearing red and white Nikes and Sasson baggy jeans. Suddenly, conversation stops. Seniors John X and Todd Y strut by, seemingly oblivious to the fact that eight pairs of adoring eyes are transfixed on their gorgeous selves. Then, the moment passes — John and Todd are gone. The girls exchange meaningful looks.

JOANNE: Wow . . .

LUCY: (in a moment of pure inspiration, pulls out the pen and writes) He's incredible? You guys, do you think he is the best looking guy in the senior class? . . . Or the second?

And so ensues a hotly contested debate, with the resulting list of the chosen few left on the table. The girls leave when the bell rings to do more day dreaming in their respective classes.

ACT III Junior Year

It is 7:30 am and people have begun to arrive, ready or not, to take the PSAT, or Preliminary Student Against Teacher Test. Some arrive bright eyed after a restful night, others, not so bright eyed. Awake or not, everyone is escorted to his/her seat by a librarian. Promptly by eight, the three hours of pain have begun.

JOSH THE JUNIOR: (As he sits down, to himself.) Why can't I get that song, 'Under Pressure' out of my head? I'll bomb this test, I know it. Who cares if both my parents went to Harvard? Oh, yeah. They won't even be here this weekend! What should I do? (Suddenly, a test is handed to him by a stony-faced librarian. There is no compassion in her face for poor Josh.)

It is three hours later and Josh and his friends are (finally!) outside.

LAURA: What a relief — that's one down for the year!

KEVIN: Which leaves the question: What's going on tonight?

(The question that has been foremost in everybody's mind has just been asked. All ears are waiting expectantly.)

JOSH: (hesitantly) Er . . . I . . .

KEVIN: (continuing on) C'mon Josh, your parents are away in Connecticut! That's two hours separating you from them. What do you say?

LAURA AND HELEN: (in chorus) C'mon Josh!

JOSH: (giving in to peer pressure at last) OK . . .

KEVIN: Yeah! Party tonight as Josh's!

(And whether he likes it or not, Josh will find many friends, both old and new, on his front doorstep that night.)

ACT IV Senior Year

Clark slouches into the cafeteria, hands jammed deep inside the pockets of his ancient jeans — and heads straight for the table where all his friends are sitting, or lying sprawled out on those new cafeteria benches catching up on their beauty rest. As Clark approaches, he hears a general mumble he interprets as "Good morning, what's up, Clark? How're ya doin'? Did you drive this morning?" He sits down. Minutes later the loud, piercing bell rouses the crowd from it's blissful comatose state, signaling the beginning of yet another day at WHS. Slowly they ease their way out of the benches and amble towards class, leaving a few lucky ones to enjoy a leisurely breakfast in the cafeteria. Clark is not among them.

CLARK: (checking his schedule) Oh, God, Pre Cal A with Miss Vonros! What time does it start anyway? Let's see, after that I have gym, homeroom, Creative Cooking, double free, Film Lit, and Fundamentals of Law. Harsh — this is my hardest day.

Suddenly Clark bumps into a door. He has arrived. The class passes slowly, but, miraculously, the time has (almost) come. It is now three minutes before the end of Pre-Cal.

CLARK: (referring to his watch) What is she babbling on about, anyway? Radians don't relate to my way of thinking. Well, the period is over in 180 seconds. Let's see if I can endure this one, 179, 178, 177 . . . (looking around classroom) Hey, who is she? She's cute, I haven't seen most of these kids around this class — maybe they're all exchange students from Brazil, or something. Say, most of these kids are juniors and sophomores! All my brain cells must've burned out in these past four years or something — I must be regressing. (taps his pencil to song going through his mind) 160, 159, 158 . . .

CONTENTS UNDER PRESSURE

PROFILE OF THE WESTON STUDENT

The Weston Student is generally always busy. He/She usually has to miss some meeting to attend another, or just to do homework due last week. Complaints of overwork, too many tests and not enough sleep fill the air. The teachers at Weston High pride themselves on keeping academic standards similar to those of a private school. The net result: piles of assignments and tests.

The Weston Student is also a well-rounded student. He/She prides himself on the range of his/her extracurricular activities. If you don't play a sport here in Weston, you'd better have a good reason why you don't! Thus, our students join clubs, become actors and actresses, develop excellent singing voices, and cope with homework simultaneosly. What can we say, that's Weston!!

In the fall of 1982, there raged a great debate on the issue of the terrible academic pressure exerting itself on the vulnerable and overworked students. This year, academics remain the number one priority for all. In a survey of 95 students, 45 felt that the workload was too heavy. "Depressing . . . Blah! . . . It's too damn much! . . . A Hefty amount . . . too pressured . . . it sucks!" Were among some of the comments given. Emotions varied from enthusiastie to lethargie. Says one student, "Too much — but worth it. It helps me learn." Another students said, "It's far too much and far too worthless and boring." Taking a more objeetive and technieal view, others said that "there was too much language and math but too little in business." Also, that "teachers should organize it so that there is no more than two tests a day." In the medium of the seale, 30 students felt that the workload was average. Two students felt that there was not enough homework, taking a definitely more relaxed view. Asks one, "what workload? The one they assign or the one I complete?" At Weston High this year, the academie workload at least was something you just could not ignore. This was also reflected in what 42% of the students said they did during their free periods. HOMEWORK Anything else? Some "exereized their right to converse freely," haekey sack, play poker, eat donuts, or "party." Many go the library and attempt to do work due the next period, socialize, or "party."

So, how do you have fun outside of sehool? Most people do their "own thing." Among them were 1. Vegetating. 2. Riding Motoreyeles. 3. Watehing Gumby and Pokey. 4. Reading books in a bubble ball. 5. Playing the drums. 6. Practieing acupuncture on little brothers. 7. Studying Zen Buddhism. 8. Doing their nails. 9. Playing hoop. 10. Staring at a wall.

Who can forget their freshman year in high sehool? One of the toughest challenges in the year is to get food, find a plaee to eat, sit down, and chow, all in the same period. The Freshmen are often squeezed into some obscure and insignifieant eorner, a whole class at one luneh table. However, as the years pass, eonditions become more bearable. (See Cafeteria diagram, p. 150) Inevitably, as you step into the limelight of your senior year, you find yourself staring at the bright light from the windows by the radiator. Then, you know you've finally made it to the top. You are a senior.

'Sup? Hey - If you think you're having a great time, you should see what I've been doing. The highlight of my vacation was the Earl's party. You don't know them, but they had 60 people! The only problem was, they were all my parents' friends. Moore is here! Well, he's always on February, Weston is empty. Everyone's either head for the mountains or the sun, and where is Timothy? THE NAME GAME

Every year we at Weston seem to notice anything and everything new. Fads like: punk glasses, mini-skirts, and big colorful earrings were seen on people of both sexes. Exercising was a super fad enhanced by two books and an album by Jane Fonda. The Police, "Syncronicity" and David Bowie have attracted the cultural majority of students, while WHTT radio is definitely fading out. And, of course, there was the movie 'Flashdance' with Jennifer Beals. As a result, who knows how many kids cut their old gym sweatshirts?

Another formidable influence was that of Eddie Murphy. Who can forget his imitation of Stevie Wonder Saturday nights at 11:30?

Still, the basically conservative Westonites have kept a grip on some old traditions. The old lunchtime Mecca, McDonald's, is reporting another prosperous year. As the English classes move on, sales of Cliff Notes, The Great Gatsby, Hamlet, and Tale of Two Cities escalate. And we certainly can't forget Macbeth.

Whether it's Complement jeans, Levi jeans, LL Bean, or Esprit, Westonites will always be playing the name game.

THE DATING GAME

In a school as small as Weston, everybody knows each other, if only by face. (or body). Even though each person is inevitably classified as an "upper" or "under" classman, there is something that links these classes together. This unknown factor is not as conventional as our Student Council, but almost more important. Ladies and Gentlemen, the "something" that few acknowledge but that which is always on everybody's mind is: THE DATING GAME.

Sara and Phil have been dating off and on since eighth grade. Friday night they get into a fight about what to do. Sara calls her best friend, Lisa. They make plans to go to a big party. Phil calls up some friends. They decide to go to the basketball game and to a party afterward. Sara sees Rob at the party. Rob has been in her history class for two years. They talk for a while. Rob and Sara are leaving for another party as Phil and his friends walk in. Phil is jealous but remains calm. Sara has a great time with Rob, but feels guilty about the fight between her and Phil. Two days later Phil and Sara are going together once again.

Who can forget their first date? For some of our more sophisticated classmates, the concept of going steady was established as early as sixth grade. For the less fortunate minority, real dating did not begin until our golden years in high school!

It was love at first sight. Helen was everything Roger dreamed of. She was captain of the field hockey team and a talented dancer as well. Her entrancing smile and long golden hair brightened his day. Roger's favorite class was chemistry because Helen sat only two rows behind him. One night, Roger finally summoned up his courage. He had "forgotten" the chemistry homework and resolved to call Helen on the phone. He nervously dialed her number.

"Hello, Helen, it's Roger."

"Oh, hi. How are you?"

At this point, Roger decided to get to the point, his real point, for calling Helen.

"Ah, o.k., I guess. Listen, I was wondering if you would like to go to the Homecoming Dance with me?"

"Gee, I would love to, but Alex and I are going. I am sure we'll see you there."

"Okay, bye."

Roger dropped the phone into its cradle and hung his head in sorrow. Then Roger thought of his lab partner, Andrea, and smiled.

Poor Roger. Don't give up out there! The main rule of the dating game is to never give up.

WHAT DO YOU DO ON A DATE WITH THE OPPOSITE SEX?

"None of your business."

Satish Lathi

"If you don't know you're in deep trouble."

Dennis, Krishy

"Have a mature and intellectual conversation."

John W. Strachan

IN SEARCH OF

Saturday night . . .John's house . . . Weston Massachusetts . . . 8:00 p.m. John and his two friends, Matt and Chris, are restless. It's Saturday night and they still have no plans for the evening. Lisa told them that Rich was having an open house party, then Anne told him that it was closed, but Rob was having kids over.

And thus, the evening begins. Finally after about ten phone calls, for more information, a quick game of "hoop," and a round or two of "refreshments" for all, the three decide to take matters into their own hands. And so, with a full tank of gas in Dad's B.M.W., they begin their search for some music, excitement, and "cold ones." The search for . . . a PARTY!

Suddenly, it's 10:00 and the tank is running low. They have arrived at Weston Center after scouting the town in a futile attempt to find fun, frolic, and FEMALES. Rich kicked them out of his party and there was a total of two cars at Rob's. (Both of which belonged to his family). Well, maybe they'd find something to do at the Center . . . then again, (as they scan the parking lot and realize that the town has long gone to sleep) . . . Maybe not!

The three young men finally decide to head home — just in time to check out who's starring in this week's Fantasy Island. The evening has been declared a "definite bummer" by all. But they're not discouraged. Many more Saturday nights still lie ahead in the eternal quest for a wild Weston weekend.

DEDICATION

There is always one person who works behind the scenes. It may be the stage manager, who never gets a standing ovation; or the team manager, who may work harder than anyone else but never revels in the glory of a basket or a homerun. Mr. Barclay, the students at Weston High School owe so much to you. Without your efforts, Sophomores wouldn't be able to overcome stage fright in speech class; nor would Freshmen be able to sponsor a class dance. The newly established Activities Center which you are running in Room 44 has helped clubs, class government, and other groups organize their efforts and has placed a new emphasize on participation and school spirit. Your efforts have diversified programs so all different types of people can become involved. How you can teach speech to every student in the entire school, read the morning announcements, run the Activities Center, direct the school plays, and still be caring, supportive, and smiling, we will never know. Mr. Barclay, the 1984 Yearbook is your curtain call. Please take a well-deserved bow!

SPECIAL RECOGNITION

Each morning the familiar cry, "Homeroom City!" echoes up and down the busy senior hall. You have made the transition from being principal of the Field School to High School History teacher with style and aplomb. We will always remember your silver metallic suit and motorcycle. Mr. Gibson, you are one of those teachers who can combine charm, wit, and knowledge in the classroom. We will never forget you!

Is it possible for one teacher to be head of the Foreign Language Department, advisor to the French Club, advisor to the Class of 1984, not to mention teaching courses in three languages? (In addition, you deserve special recognition for miraculously finding anything in your office.)

Mrs. Wohlers, you have not only proven it is possible to accomplish these feats, but you have also been a special person to us, the Class of 1984. We admire you for your patience and ability to teach in the classroom; and for your understanding and obvious caring for others outside the classroom. We will always remember you for those rainy football games helping out at the concession stand, and as our humane language teacher. Merci beaucoup!

Sometimes you can't wait to get out of this place
You want to move on now, find your own empty space
We will think of all the wild and tough times we've had Yet in retrospect, we will find it wasn't really that bad
Remember graduation, the prom, the parties at night
Then stop and remember your past freshman fright
Think about the fun times the present and past have all been
But it's time to move on now, can't always be thinking about them
We will all surely meet again, though we are not quite sure when.

I keep picturing all these little kids in this big field of rye . . .
If they're running and they don't look where they're going,
I have to come out from somewhere and catch them.
That's all I'd do all day. I'd just be the catcher in the rye . . .

Far to the East I see them in my mind coming in every year to that one place. They carry in their hands what they must find, In their own face bare what they shall face. They move in silence, permanent and sure, like figurines of porcelain set with gold, The colors of their garments bright and pure, Their graceful features elegant and old They do not change: not war nor peace define nor end the journey that each year the same renders them thus. They wait upon a sign that promises no future but their name.

Nature smiles at the union of freedom and equality in our Utopias. For freedom and equality are sworn and everlasting enemies, and when one prevail the other dies. Leave men free, and their natural inequalitites will multiply almost geometrically. To check the growth of inequality, liberty must be sacrificed . . . Utopias of the equality are biologically doomed, and the best that the amiable philosopher can hope for is an approximate equality of legal justice.

"As you can see by the previous page, the senior class officers sincerely want to thank our advisors for making us solvent!"

From our awkward entrance as naive freshmen to our graceful exit as mature (hopefully) seniors, you have always been there to guide us. Although not all of our endeavors have been successful (the freshman brunch — just what was that anyway?) — activities such as the annual road race, magazine drives, beach trips, the Prom, and the Variety Show illustrate your inexhaustible spirit and unbelievable (but appreciated) assistance.

Janet Wohlers and Donald Gearan, for this we thank you. We will miss you.

As we recall the memories we have shared over the past four years, we fondly remember our class advisor, Donald Garland, who played a very special role for the class of 1984. His spirit lives on in each of us.

REAL SENIORS

REAL SENIORS . . .

. . . are slumped in November
. . . can appreciate the Grateful Dead and the Talking Heads
. . . know how to waste gas
. . . can deal with McDonald's at 10:00 AM
. . . know their parents are right 51.5% of the time
. . . won't take public transportation
. . . write college applications overnight
. . . have perfected their parents signatures
. . . have beaten the system
. . . don't need excuses

II. Three Things Real Seniors don't do in Class:
1. Take notes
2. Raise their hands (when real seniors talk, people listen.)
3. Stay awake

III. Three Things a Real Senior never reads:
1. Diplomas
2. College Mail
3. Anything in a foreign language

Senior Quiz

How many Real Seniors does it take to change a lightbulb?

168. One to change it and 167 to blow it off.

SENIORS — Is there life after high school?

"To fill out college applications or to blow them off," that is the question. For most seniors, this all important question is contemplated far more often than Hamlet's "To be or not to be." Hamlet's problems seem petty compared to the frustrations college-bound seniors face right before January mid-terms — not to mention all fall. As soon as September arrives, the pressure begins; depression sets in as the senior has his "first close encounter" with his guidance counselor and finds out what colleges are within his reach. So maybe he won't apply to Harvard after all! After the list of colleges is revised, the application process begins. During this same time frame, seniors are expected to take SAT's and achievements, participate in extra-curricular activities, receive good grades, and fulfill their obligations as "well-rounded candidates."

The process seems quite simple at first. Name, address, and place of birth seem easy enough questions. On the back page, though, comes the unavoidable, dreaded ESSAY! "In 300 words, or less, tell us what you can contribute to our university," or "What experience has been most meaningful for you during your high school career!"

It is at this time that seniors show their expertise in the fine art of procrastination; often pulling all-nighters to finally get their essay written, stamped, and in the mailbox.

Now the senior can sit back and relax, right? Well, not quite! The worst is yet to come. The next few months are spent in confusion, dread, and apprehension; all part of the long wait until the "fateful day."

You come home and open the mail-box. Inside lies the long-awaited, final white envelope! Heart fluttering, finger trembling, you rip it open. And the message reads . . .

IN A CLASS BY THEMSELVES

INTERESTS

And The Winner Is . . .

This year, the Yearbook Staff wanted to establish a new tradition for the high school: to give the yearbook an official name. This was definately easier said than done! Two weeks later, we had a total of twenty suggestions. Some time later, we were in Room 2 struggling with this problem. At around 4:15, Mark Retik came in. After listening to our predicament, he calmly said, "How's Panorama?" There was a certain sound to it that appealed to all of us. Finally, our yearbook had a name.

Webster's Dictionary defines Panorama (pan/ora/ma) as a "comprehensive presentation of a subject." It is our hope that the years spent at Weston High and the memories, will be preserved in the Panorama we have created.

We, The Yearbook Staff Of 1984, proudly christen this yearbook with our best wishes and a bottle of Korbel. Cheers!

A PANORAMIC VIEW

A year ago, the yearbook staff started the 1983 supplement. 'Hey, this is easy!' we thought. 'Yearbooking should be no problem!'

We were wrong.

After two months of planning early in the school year, we were all set to go. During this past time, we had gone through more than twenty names for our yearbook, and had vetoed more than ten different themes. We were also without male staff members! We noticed this strange development at a large meeting, but what could be done? We just hoped we didn't scare them away!

Maleless or not, we had to face five different deadlines and complete over two hundred pages. Now came the hard part . . . nagging and threatening the seniors to get their quotes and pictures in on time . . . taking those 'special effects' pictures that turned out to be not so special after all . . . hassling people to pose for us . . . putting in announcements . . . putting out surveys that were (basically) disregarded. Other than those minor aggravations, being on the yearbook was a true learning experience. How many people knew every seniors quote and birthdates, or how to copyfit and crop a picture?

Last but not least, the yearbook advisor who does so much and receives so little credit. Special thanks to Mrs. Nickeson for all the expertise and patience. And a grateful 'thank you' to Mrs. Siegel, whose photographic talent and generosity helped us out in many cases.

WESTON HIGH SCHOOL
Presents
THE RIVALS
by
Richard Brinsley Sheridan

On November 18,19 and 20, Weston High School presented the play, "The Rivals", an eighteenth century comedy about the convoluted Shenigans of the English aristocracy in the name of love.

The main plot involves the creation of a false identity by Captain Jack Absolute in order to attract the lovely and rich Lydia Languish. Miss Languish, it seems, wants to marry a man for love and poverty and Jack, knowing her nature, tries to win her affection by becoming the unaristocratic "Enseign Beverly."

SPORTS

101 PERCENT

The Wildcasts struggled through a 2-8 season with many games decided late in the fourth quarter. The two victories were an exciting come from behind 20 to 14 victory over Concord-Carlisle, highlighted by the running of Kurt Haufler and game winning touchdown pass from Dave Reilly to Mike Rouleau, and the 13-0 shutout of Medfield with the second score coming late in the fourth quarter by Kurt Huafler. The Thanksgiving game was a hard played close contest with Wayland prevailing 12-10. Capt. Jeff Hall kicked a 24 yard field goal and Reed McCracken blocked a punt that rolled into the end zone and was recovered by Paul Slagle for a touchdown. Kurt Haufler was selected as the outstanding Weston player by the Town Crier for his 85 yards rushing and pass interception to stop a Wayland drive.

The season may have been frustrating but the leadership of Capt. Jeff Hall and seniors was important for maintaining the enthusiasm, desire, and dedication among the underclassmen. The future looks exciting for the 1984 edition of Wildcat Football.

JUST WAIT TILL NEXT YEAR

In a rebuilding year under Coach Frank Taylor, the boys varsity soccer team ended up at 5-7-4. Highlighting the fall was a three game win streak in mid-season which included a win over North Sectional Runner-up Acton-Boxboro. Two of the ties came against Bedford, one of the three D.C.L. representatives in the past season tournament.

The team was sparked throughout the fall by co-captains John McCahan and Mike Potter. Junior Robbie Blank recorded four shut-outs in net and classmates Carlos Rivera, Richard Caruso and Wes Atamian provided much of the team's offensive scoring punch. Seniors David Ott, Jeff Rice, and Mike Birgeneau gave this young Wildcat team mid-field stability from their halfback positions.

Coach Taylor is very optimistic that ten lettermen will be returning along with several other underclassmen who saw some varsity game time this fall.

A COMEBACK YEAR

It was Tuesday, November 8, at Lincoln Sudbury High School. The Dual County League Cross Country schedule had been completed but today all league teams had assembled for the annual DCL Championship Meet. Weston, was nervous but determined as they crowded into their starting box waiting for the starter's command.

It had been a dissappointing season for Weston. We were badly beaten by Acton and Wayland in our first two meets. We won the third meet, but lost our fourth meet to Lincoln Sudbury — by a very close score this time. That was the turning point, as the team went on to defeat Concord, Boston Latin, and Bedford. The team, with a four and three record, was determined to capture the league title at this the Championship Meet.

The starter's gun went off. Fifty six runners jockeyed for position as they started the 2.8 mile race. When it was over, Weston's team had won the meet and the trophy by a wide margin.

This was not the end for the Cross Country Team. They next ran in the Eastern Mass. Championship Meet, competing against forty other teams and finishing forth.

An additional honor was claimed by the team. They were the only Dual County League Team to qualify for the All State Meet, run on November 19.

Thus the year became a "Comeback" year for the Weston High Cross Country Team — a year the team members can look back to with pride and satisfaction. The team thanks Dan Claman and Chris Vitello who served so well as Co-Captains.

Special recognition was received by Steve Minervino who was named a Dual County League All-Star and the team's "Most Valuable" player. Andy Sheffer was recognized as the team's "Unsung Hero."

CLOSE, BUT NO CIGAR!

Field Hockey 1983 opened August 29 with two weeks of preseason practice. Some sixty players arrived, energetic and enthusiastic, for double sessions — starting at 7:00 a.m.

We had three scrimmages (Wellesley, Lexington, and Walpole) to prepare for the opening game against Wayland — and well prepared we were, beating them 1-0. Then we met our nemisis, Acton-Boxboro, going down 0-1. After that it was all uphill. We finished the season with 11 wins, 1 loss, and 2 ties — to secure the second spot in the Dual County League.

Having qualified for states, the team beat Saugus 2-0, then went on to play Danvers, losing 0-1 with only one minute left to play. Thus the season ended rather abruptly, but with an outstanding record of 13 shutouts, (with Andrea Parker tending net), 37 goals and only 3 goals against us.

Top four scorers were junior Anne Moellering, 12; junior K.C. Wilder, 10; senior Val Clark, 8; and senior Amy Coller, 8.

Dual County League All-Star honors go to senior Co-captain Missy Pan, on defense; and to juniors Anne Moellering and K.C. Wilder on offense. Honorable mention was received by Co-captain Holly Reiman on defense, along with goalie Andrea Parker, and senior right wing Val Clark.

Credit goes to all the players for the team's success.We bid our seniors "goodbye and good-luck" with a fond thank-you for their contribution to Weston Field Hockey.

GETTING THEIR KICKS

The Girl's Soccer Team finished off a successful season with a bang. After having lost our first six games we finished up with a 5-2-2 record over the final nine games.

There were some close losses along the way, but a comeback tie with Wayland helped to bolster the squad as it almost kept the arch-rivals out of the state tournament. Our fourth place tie with Newton South was a nice ending.

We placed three players on the All-League team. They were Andrea Botticelli, our M.C.P., Susan Cappelo, a tri-captain and Tucky Gee Award winner, and Karen Linde, a tri-captain and Bob Gillis Award winner. Tracey Danforth was also recognized as a tri-captain while Melinda Ferguson was awarded as the Most Improved Player. Newcomer Rachel Hazen received the Coaches Award. We salute the J.V.'s on an outstanding season and look forward to next fall.

BOYS BASKETBALL FINDS THE KEY TO VICTORY

1984's Weston Basketball team had its first winning season in 6 years, compiling a 10 and 9 record. Six losses were decided by 2 points or less. The team was led by All-Stars Jack Cort and Cliff Owens and the steady play of co-captain Jamie Turner. These seniors, along with Al Rogers, Harry Thompson, Arthur Anastos, and Chris Moran, enjoyed their last year playing at Weston and making a memorable experience. The team got plenty of support from the students attending the games as Weston attracted the biggest crowds in the D.C.L. With returning Letterman Brian McPherson, Rob Blanck, Dave Fitzgerald, Rich Lofberg, and Peter Alhart, Next year's team could be as exciting. The 1984 Wildcat Basketball team can call themselves winners!

HOOPSTERS ON THE UPSWING

Weston High's girls basketball teams had a season to be proud of. The varsity squad, under first year coach Julie Butler, had a slow start but came back with a strong second half of the season, tallying a final record of 3-13. The junior varsity squad posted a 4-12 season record. Initiating the come back was a 2 point loss to top seeded Lincoln Sudbury. A week later, the Wildcats came up with an overtime decision over Boston Latin which gave the lady Wildcats their first Dual County League win in 3 years!! Finally, they closed the season with a big win over 3rd seeded Concord Carlisle. The team leaders were senior co-captains Missy Pan (Dual County League All-Star) and Margaret Grace. The win-loss records are deceiving for each team showed tremendous improvement and increased intensity as the season progressed. At both varsity and junior varsity levels there are a lot of promising young players to build a strong nucleus for years to come.

STICKMEN STUCK

The 23 hockey players who competed for Weston High School for the '83-'84 season, had high hopes of being competitive in all their games. This goal in itself was admirable since 9 of the 20 games were against opponents who were ranked in the top 5 in Division 2 or 3. The enthusiasm and desire to be competitive did not diminish after having gone 0-11-1. However, over the last 9 games the Wildcats' went 3-5-1 with victories against Keefe Tech, Newton, South, and arch rival, Wayland.

MATMEN GAIN STRONGHOLD

The Weston Wrestling team completed their best season ever this year. Last year's record was a hard act to follow, but this year the team dug in and finished the season with a record of 16-3. Led by Tri-captains Joe Tagliente, Jim Park and Emmet Grady, the team did a super job. These three and others David Bernat, Mike Freidberg, and Jeff Fiske will be missed next year.

Next year's team also looks good with quite a number of Varsity Wrestlers returning. Also a number of Junior Varsity Wrestlers should make the team as good as this year's squad.

NEW FACES, NEW PACES

The Boy's Winter Track Team finished another successful D.C.L. season with a record of 5-2. Highlights of the season were some fine individual performances at the State Coaches' Invitational and a fine 3rd place finish at the State Relays. Outstanding individual performances were turned in by Steve Miller in the mile, Mike Clabault in the 300, David Irving in the 40, Dan Claman and Richard Manning in the 600 and Jeff Hall and Mike Rouleau in the shot put.

The Girls' Winter Track Team completed its second straight undefeated D.C.L. season. The team also placed first in D.C.L. All-League Meet and 3rd in the Division II State Championship. Outstanding individual performances were turned in by K.C. Wilder, Susan Allen, Robin MacDonald, and Rachel Hazen, all of whom placed in the Division II meet, as well as by Julie Muccini, Laura Paresky, and Freshmen Hannah Lawrence and Cassie Smart. This year marked the sixth time in the last eight years the team has been undefeated in dual meets. With only four seniors leaving, the team looks forward to another strong season next year.

$5P's = 2 + 2^2 + 2^3$

The 1983-84 swimming team's formula for success was only two-thirds completed in another outstanding season by "The Red Tide". Translated it broke down in PERFECT PRACTICE PREVENTS POOR PERFORMANCE and hopefully equaled eight straight Dual County League Championships, four consecutive Northern Mass Sectional titles and two state crowns in a row. Despite a 12-2 dual meet record, only the state title escaped the grasp of this dedicated group of athletes.

Six A.M. weight workouts and water practices were followed up by a second afternoon session at the pool in the team's efforts to maintain a tradition of excellence. The team defeated defending New England Champions Bishop Hendriken of Rhode Island, and Maine State Champions Cape Elizabeth. The team's first loss to a Massachusetts high school team in the three years was avenged when "The Red Tide" upset Chelmsford to capture their fourth consecutive Northern Mass Sectional Meet.

Pacing the efforts of "The Red Tide" were tri-captains Tony Baker, Mike Deldachetto, and Satish Lathe. Classmates Dan Even, Lisa Jacobs, Alan Jacobs, Marion Robins and Gordon Waldron effectively supplemented the leadership roles of the captains and made "GOIN FOR MORE IN '84" a reality. Underclassmen "Moose" Haas, Cathy Kohn, Artie Jacobs, Mark McClintock, Leslie Davidson and freshman standout Robbie Mulloy will be tasked with filling the void left by our departing seniors and "KEEPIN THE STREAKS ALIVE IN '85".

Champion sailor — Bee Baker: Winner of Leiter Memorial Trophy (New England singlehandled sailing championship for Junior Women.) Received Saltonstall Trophy in 1982 and 1983. (Southern Massachussetts championship for Junior women.)

Great Communications: Michelle Chiavacci was the first runner-up in the Women's Community League Garden Club National Speech Contest

WHO'S WHO IN THE "CAF"

"Birds of a feather flock together." W.H.S. has it's share of eagles, nightingales, and pigeons. We students at Weston have long since been forming our own company of peers who share our same interests. Whether these interests are drama, sports, or seeking social fulfillment.

Along with the diversified "cliques" there is also a hierarchy of students from the freshmen to the seniors. The cafeteria is a daily reflection of this distinct heirarchy. There are certain "unspoken — rules" that accompany this conformity. For example, unless well into your junior year it is not considered appropriate to situate yourself on the "senior radiator." As one progresses through his high school years, his location at lunch changes with their status.

Shown in our diagram are some of the various groups to be found in our cafeteria. These are however, rough generalizations and not to be taken seriously or personally.

To be, or not to be; that is the bare bodkin
That makes calamity of so long life;
For who would fardels bear, tell Birnam Wood do come to Dunsinane,
But that the fear of something after death
Murders the innocent sleep,
Great nature's second course,
And makes us rather sling the arrows of outrageous fortune
Than fly to others that we know not of.
There's the respect must give us pause:
Wake Duncan with thy knocking! I would thou couldst;
For who would bear the whips and scorns of time,
The oppressor's wrong, the proud man's contumely,
The law's delay, and the quietus which his pangs might take,
In the dead waste and middle of the night, when churchyards yawn
In customary suits of solemn black,
But that the undiscovered country from whose bourne no
traveler returns,
Breathes forth contagion on the world,
And thus the native hue of resolution, like the poor cat i'
the adage,
Is sicklied o'er with care,
And all the clouds that lowered o'er our housetops,
And this regard their currents turn away,
And lose the name of action.
'Tis a consummation devoutly to be wished. But soft you,
the fair Ophelia:
Ope not thy ponderous and marble jaws,
But get thee to a nunnery — go!

C. prism
D. pi
E. protractors
F. inverse
G. algebra
H. geometry
I. polygon
J. tangent

Here is the Mathematic Departmen's favorite story.

A mathematician from a prestigious university visited an Algebra II class one day and asked the teacher if he might ask the class a question. The teacher responded, "Of course, this is a very, very bright group of students; perhaps Weston's finest." The mathematician asked, "How large is the square root of two?" A student at the back of the room exclaimed, "I suppose you can write it as large as you want to."

Pacing the high tech world is the challenge of Science. In the lab or in the office you will always find students and teachers exploring the frontiers of the modern world together.

Whether it be inside the cell or on the summit of Mt. Washington, BIOLOGY searches for pattern and purpose among living things.

From air track gliders to slow motion strobes, PHYSICS examines the phenomena of action and reaction.

With rare earths and common compounds CHEMISTRY delights the experimenter with colorful clues to the basic structure of matter.

Come expand your horizons!

We label ourselves the History Department, but we certainly deal with all topics in the Social Studies area. World Cultures to Contemporary Issues demand that students know about their immediate world — both here and in response to other areas of the globe.

The department also believes in field experiences. A speaker, a folk singer; Close-Up or New York; museums or mills; Kennedy Library or Salem — all bring a new dimension to the classroom life.

Each member of the department brings his special interest or expertise to the school and his classes. Thus, economic theory, social history, or politics will be emphasized, even our core courses of World and United States History.

Perhaps the sense of the individual and the contribution to society are a most positive comment we all consider. We certainly hope that our contributions to critical thinking in all areas of history and social studies are noted.

With history, we seek answers in the past and hope for the future. However, we often agree with Mark Twain in Life on the Mississippi. "I was gratified to be able to answer promptly, and I did. I said I didn't know."

HOME ECONOMICS

We may live without poetry,
music and art;
We may live without conscience
and live without heart;
We may live without friends,
and live without books;
But civilized man, cannot live without cooks.

He may live without books —
What is knowledge but grieving?
He may live without hope — what is hope but deceiving?
He may live without love — what is passion but pining?
But where is the man that can live without dining?
Meredith

MUSIC

The music department has provided interested students with the opportunity to develop their musical potential. Several varied types and sizes of vocal and instrumental ensembles have helped students to develop an awareness and understanding of the art of Music. As you continue to pursue musical experiences as active participants or consumers, music will continue to enrich your lives. Best wishes to the class of 1984.

Clifford O'Connor

We mean business! Many students entering the 9th grade think that business means typewriting; however, they soon find that business also means Law, Shorthand, Accounting, Management, and Economics, all of which are designed to help students with their work in college.

Traditionally, nearly 100 percent of our students elect to take a course in Typewriting. We're proud of student achievement in our typing classes. Many students end the year able to type over 60 words a minute; a few make it to 80 and 90 words a minute. We mean business!

If you were to drop in on a discussion in Law, you might find students discussing their rights if stopped by a policeman on the way home from a party. In the Management class, you might find students playing a ring toss game in order to understand and experience risk. We mean business!

Are you interested in computers! Drop in on an Accounting class and see how the VAX is being used to help students do their work. In the advanced typing classes, the Apple microcomputers with word processing and a built-in dictionary really make life easier. "You mean I can ask the machine to find my spelling errors?" We mean business!

Did you always think that shorthand was some form of latter day hieroglyphics? Not any more. The new Stenoscript classes teach students to use the longhand alphabet characters to take notes quickly. "Micro-economics? What's that?" Mr. O'Connor makes it crystal clear during every second semester. It's easy to see that from typing to economics, WE MEAN BUSINESS!

SKILLS CENTER

Are you familiar with your own learning style? What works best for you? Are you a visual, auditory or kinesthetic learner or do you combine styles to get maximum efficiency in learning? By knowing your own strengths and utilizing them effectively, you can get the most out of your classes.

The Skills Center staff assists students in developing the most effective strategies in studying, thereby improving their academic performance. We are delighted with the positive response of the students who come to us for a variety of reasons. Every day they prove the truth of the idea that if is "the things we can do, not the things we can't do, that determine our success in life."

Your Class of 1984
Soon will be leaving Weston High,
And fondly, and somewhat sadly,
You'll bid high school days, goodbye.

You'll take with you many memories,
Of the happy years you shared,
With friends, and students, and teachers,
While for the future, you prepared.

That some future now awaits you
As graduation nears;
You'll proudly accept the challenge,
But you'll have your doubts and fears.

Take courage, you who graduate,
You have so much to give;
You'll be the ones, who'll find the road.
To a better way we live.

Your path may be to college,
Or to busy industry;
Whatever you have chosen,
Do it faithfully.

Farewell, Class of 1984
Our hopes all go with you;
We all take pride, and wish you well,
In everything you do.

"It requires a great deal of boldness and a great deal of caution to make a great fortune;
and when you have got it,
it requires ten times as much wit to keep it."

–Meyer A. Rothschild

Like all banks, Cambridge Trust offers checking and savings, cash management, money markets and safe deposits. Unlike all banks, we also offer automatic teller machines for banking 24 hours a day. And unlike most, we offer a silver storage vault for storage of valuables too large for our safe deposit boxes.

As a small bank, we have the flexibility to offer all our customers the personal service that the big institutions just can't muster, and the time to see that you get that service.

For instance, if you need a loan, you won't have to wait long for a decision. Or if you want to talk about our trust services, we'll make an appointment for you right here at the branch.

Our aim is to make your banking pleasant, effective, and convenient. We open at 7:30 (Monday through Friday) to help you commuters and close at 4 p.m. We're open Saturdays from 9 a.m. to 12:30 p.m.

And for those of you who don't like to spend time hunting for a parking space, we have ample free parking behind the bank.

On wintry days, you might even see a fire burning in the fireplace.

Please stop by our Weston office, or give us a call at 893-5500.

Whatever the size of your fortune, we'll do our best to help you keep it.

WE'RE DONE!!!

Friends are like the notes of a song, one harmony, one melody, together they make music.

The most wasted day of all is that on which we have not laughed.

Keep your face to the sunshine and you'll never feel the rain.

Pigs is Pigs.

It's the laughter we will remember when we remember the way we were.

That's why it's time for a change.

"I have had playmates, I have had companions, in my days of childhood, in my joyful school days, all are gone, the old familiar faces."

"Time Present and Time Past are both present in Time Future."

Here we are in Weston, Massachusetts, a one-time small, upper middle class town in the middle of suburbia, Now, in the year 2000, it's the Olympic capital of the world. For the past eight years they've been transforming the ghost town-like center of Weston into a tourist strip of high rise motels and flashing neon lights.

One of these new buildings is Ye Old Cottage Three, owned by Beth and Michael Cremmen. They are watching the Olympic events on T.V. with their friends Mark Donahue, Tracey Danforth, and Robyne Trager. In the corner of the restaurant we see John Bumpus and Ronald McPherson sampling the official submarine sandwiches of the year 2000 Olympics. As we exit this charming place, we see the familiar orange and red signs of Joe Tagliente's Burger King Townhouse, the first fast-food chain to be allowed in Weston. Inside, 1984 Weston High Graduate Melinda Ferguson is attempting to quiet her ten children. Sitting with her is her high school pal, Liz Bello who has recently become the president of Bloomingdale's clothing stores.

We will return to Weston Center later, but now let's take a look at the opening ceremonies. As we hear the familiar Olympic theme song, played by Weston's own band, we see the conductor is Laura Westman. Members of the band are Dan Claman, Marcia Belvin and Junah Chung. In the distance we can see the torch of the Olympic games carried by Vincent Chiang, the director of the US Olympic Organization. Behind him are flagbearers: Michele Calra, John Strachan, Margaret Grace, Jay Choi, and Chuck Peters. The main torch has just been ignited, and we have officially begun the Summer Olympics of the year 2000.

Let's take a look at the first event, swimming. A strange coincidence is that a large percentage of the US Olympic swim team comes from Weston High School's Red Tide. Team members include: Holly Berkovits, Alan Jacobson, Lisa Jacobs, Satish Lathi, Marion Robbins, Mike Delduchetto, Tobi Karchmer, but, wait!!! . . . Tony Baker has just broken the world record in the 100 meter breastroking event. Amazing!

And now . . . on to the equestrian events. On the track we see Pam Stubbs breaking ahead of her team mates Susan Prescott, Kim Rich, Lynn Parrish, and Rachel Perkins. Pam has won the event! Another medal for the United States!

On to the basketball game. Before the game starts we hear Anne Vallace, Tim Claman, and Julie Cohen sing their own rendition of the US National anthem. As we have been previously told by Howard Cosell's successor, Dennis Kirshy, the US Olympic Basketball team is favored to win because of its notable members: Harry Thompson, Chris Moran, Jack Cort, Clifton Owens, Al Rogers and James Turner. Surprisingly enough, Arthur Anastos, a one-time bench warmer, is now, at six-feet, two inches tall, the powerhouse of the team. On the sidelines we see former Dallas Cowboy Cheerleaders Sue Cappello, Bailey Chapman, Bonnie Parlee and Stacey Radcliffe.

In the stands we see many graduates of Weston High School's Class of '84. Among them are Jill Landauer, Kris Fiore, who is clad in the latest sweatshirt fashion from Notre Dame, Karen Jacobs, Debbie Hinckley, (the new president of Weston's PTO) Lora Parker, and Wendy Andler.

We'll return to Weston Center for a moment. Near Peter Katsikaris' Fell's Market, we see Katie King's and Almitra Stanley's tiny boutique. Browsing inside are their former classmates Lisa Parker, Dana Perry, Kelly Whitaker and Michelle Petersen. Liesl Rockart is the clothes designer for this boutique. Her models are Michele Chiavacci and Helena Melone — What beautiful clothes they are wearing!

As we are walking out, we see the newest hair salon in Weston, "Bad Endings". The owner of this hair salon chain, the biggest in the United States today, is Lauren Goldsmith. Paul Zerner, her top hair stylist, is giving Steven Becker and Bart Wright mohawks. Jill Glazerman, also a noted hair stylist, is now dying Kathleen Gordon's hair an unusual tint of florescent orange. Supposedly, it's the new fad in Weston.

Let's take a look behind the scenes. Running the computerized score boards, we have Rob Davis, Joe Koujoumjian, Steve Siegel, Tom Palmer, Jane Boyle, David Krakauer, and David Saltz. The technician for all the Olympic events and activities is the world-reknowned, David Kerwin.

Oh . . . hold on! A report has just come in. Amy Coller has just scored a goal for the US Lacrosse team. She was assisted by her buddy Missy Pan. Other members of the team include Meredith Magie, Liz Knight, and . . . wait! There's a fight! Holly Reiman has just knocked down her opponent. Watching this commotion is most of the US Track team. Jeff Hall, our leading shot putter, is sitting next to Rachel Hazen, who, incidentally, has published her fifth book of poetry. Next to her are her team mates: Chris Vitello, Sean Collins, Mike Rouleau, Erin DeChristopher, and Lillan Autler.

As we have seen, the Olympic games in Weston have attracted a great variety of people, even the United States President, David Norquist. He was flown in today by the well known pilot, Mark Kilayko. Also, Alissa Paige, known for her innovative and different approach to entertaining is here. With her is Eddie Leopold, rock idol.

But, back to the games. More specifically, the first co-ed soccer game in the history of the Olympics is now taking place. The fist line up includes Mike Potter, Chantha Souvanna, Renee Altman, Mike Birgeneau, Kim Wooters, Job Lawrence, Emily Isaacs, David Ott, Jeff Fiske, John McCahan, and Jeff Rice. This incredible team is coached by Tom Szekely and Karen Linde.

It's nearly noon so let's go over to Sally Callahan's luncheon. Here are some of the pillars of Weston Society: Bee Baker, Pat Kelsey, Linda Smith, Paul Fallon, Michelle Noonan, John Randall, Andy Scott, Rob Birkenstock, and Mark Crowder. Oh my, there may be a problem. Jim Park, Michelle Holdsworth, Fred Westerling, and Biddie Thomas, part of the New York Society jet-set, just walked in, uninvited. No need to worry — peacemaker David Bernat has arrived.

Back to Weston Center. Vicky's pub is crowded. For the rush her old friends from the class of '84 have come: Margot Roth and Dawn Widugiris. Sitting in the store are their classmates Christine Van Wart, Chris Shores, Kim Jansen, Carolyn Cabral, Kim Healey, Sandy Franchi, and Sandra Martin. Next to the pub is Reilly's Rackets. David is talking to his co-workers Andy Sacher and Kurt Haufler. Also in the store are members of the US Olympic Tennis Team Lisa Nyman, Andrea Parker, Gordon Waldron, and Matt Paris. Hesse's Hamburgers is crowded. Perhaps it's because his beef comes straight from Andy Nickerson's farm. Sitting at a table enjoying their hamburgers are Andy Spencer, Corinne Guillaume, and Bolivian Ambassador Susanna Comboni. Suddenly, we hear the screech of car brakes outside. Ken Brown, Chris Potter, Joe Connelly, and Brock Edmunds have just pulled up to Nick Dowling's new cinema. Mike Albert's Academy Award winning movie, "The Boy Wonder", starring Rob Watral, is now showing. Right now, David Drumm, the talented ticket taker, is ripping the tickets of Tom Gilman, James Rosenburg and Karin Vandevenne. Behind them are Aristine Harris and Christine Vander Meld.

Now on the BMX races. As expected, Emmett Grady has just won the gold! Congratulating Emmett are his old high school friends, Sylvia Browne, Curtis Johnson, and Val Clark. Nearby in a large crowd, we see Phil Cacciatore and John Karofsky witnessing this historical moment. On the north side of Weston at the Cherry Brook Road Athletic Field, we have the archery events where Mark Polansky is preparing for his attempt at the gold Before he goes, however, we will quickly see the last few seconds of Rich Martin's karate match. What strength! Sports fans Jim Levitt, Nell Marshall, Dan Lynch and Mike Coyle enthustiastically cheer him on.

Wait! Who's that person in the middle of the field wearing . . . What is it? A tablecloth? A toga? A bedsheet? Oh . . . It's Carole Hooven-Fuchs, the leader of the Shiners, an up and coming cult. Behind her, selling roses and record albums are Kris Wathne, Paul Slagle, and Chris Walker.

Seriously Folks, we have just received some shocking news. It seems that a nuclear bomb is heading towards Weston. Oh well, at least we're all here together. I guess we could say it's the day before the day after.

THANK YOU'S

The 1984 Yearbook Staff would like to recognize and thank some important people in its production.

First of all, thanks to both Mrs. Siegel and her son, Stephen for all the pictures. Also, thanks to Mrs. Hatch for the use of her darkroom, artistic ideas, and for just being there when we needed you. A big 'thank you' goes to Margot Fulton for putting up with our demanding (and sometimes insane) requests for pictures and more pictures, and for having the enthusiasm to go anywhere, anytime to get any picture! Also, we appreciate her obvious talent as a photographer.

We would also like to thank Principal Bruce MacDonald, for allowing us to exercise the First Amendment; to Mrs. Mortsen in the Audio-Visual Room for copying how many different surveys?; to Mrs. Olsen for paging 'lost' persons; and to the Attendance ladies, Mrs. Benotti and Mrs. Gratcy, for allowing us to put in all of our messages.

Finally, last but far from the least, a very special thank you to Mrs. Nickeson, who always pulled everything together. It would have been truly impossible to do without her knowledge, understanding, and creative flair.

SPECS

The 1984 Panorama was published by the Hunter Publishing Company of Winston-Salem, North Carolina. A press run of 501 books were made with 208 pages.

The theme of this year's book is 'Games People Play'. This was symbolized on the front cover with a pair of dice, which appear on each divider page. This theme is further emphasized in various articles, headlines, and certain pages.

In the first sixteen pages, (the opening section), 100 pound Lustro paper stock was used. The remaining pages were printed on 80 pound Matte paper stock. The trim size increased, from 7¾" x 10½" to 8½" x 11". The book was printed using black ink with Avant Book typestyle (#161) for body copy, with bold emphasis. We used Baskerville Bold (#196) headlines. Our cover design was done in the silk-screen process on the front lid and spine area over a 120 pt. binder's board. The base material used was Lexetone #40199 Charcoal Grey with (2) applied color inks (White and Cranberry Red). Our endsheets were printed on 65 pound cover weight paper stock #323 Colonial White using Black ink.

Editor's Note: THE GAME OF LIFE

You too can be a winner in this game of life. That's the object of the game. It all centers around the wheel of fate. You start out on Life's highway, just out of high school, with only a small amount of money and possibly a car. As you travel on, you will meet with many new people, success and failure. Your luck — your decisions — may give you more than one chance to make good. Fate plays a large part, but your decisions are also very important. For example, at the first fork on the road, you must decide whether to take a job or to go to college. You will encounter many other forks — the choices are always yours! For the past twelve years Weston has held us close within her walls and helped us grow toward adulthood. We have studied and learned, to face the world with pride and confidence. The memories of the years we have spent here will never be forgotten. We have played the Game of Life together, not always winning, but always trying. Now the future is in our hands. Where will it lead? Just roll the dice and see where it takes you . . .

NEW BEGINNINGS

It is hard to believe that between the three of you — Miss McDonough for 33 years, Mr. Emerson for 21 years and Mr. Manzo for 22 years — that 76 years of teaching at Weston High have been completed. All three of you have spent most of your lives educating young men and women here at Weston High; and the hundreds of students who have benefited under your guidance and skills will always remember you. Your colleagues on the faculty will remember you too as both friends and respected teachers. We wish you good luck and health in the years to come and we will miss you.

In grateful appreciation for all of you time, patience, and dedication, Panorama 1984 bids a fond farewell to Miss Claire McDonough, Mr. Joseph Emerson, and Mr. Alex Manzo.
